

The intoxicating music of Pavlo defies easy definition. The artist himself offers the most accurate description. "I just call it

Pavlo

Mediterranean guitar music, for I combine Greek music with Spanish and classical elements." His passionate sounds are aimed at the heart and soul, not the intellect.

Inspired by people like Jimi Hendrix and Eddie Van Halen, Pavlo also studied classical guitar and kept listening to and playing the Greek music that is his heritage. He has been called "Lord of the Strings."
